Hoover, Says Dyer, Would Drive Wedge In "Solid South."

Republican Patron of Anti-Lynching Bill Calls for Negro Equality, Which He Would Uphold With Federal Force

St. Louis, Mo.—Representative L. C. Dyer, Republican, of the Twelfth Missouri Congressional District, has announced his advocacy of Federal enforcement of, not alone the eighteenth, but also, the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the Constitution of the United States, declaring that negro equality in every section of the country should be upheld by Federal force. He further declared that, should Hoover be elected, he would "drive such a thick wedge through the heart of the solid South and their white supremacy slogan that it will blow up their whole unconstitutional program." Mr. Dyer, in 1923, introduced his Anti-Lynching bill, which passed the lower House of Congress by a two to one vote. The measure then went to the Senate where, while a majority appeared in favor of its passage, it was killed when Southern Senators invoked the filibuster.

Representative Dyer said: "It is just as logical and reasonable for Congress to enact laws for the rigid enforcement of these two amendments as to have the Volstead Act for the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment. The fourteenth and fifteenth amendments have provisions for enforcement laws just the same as has the eighteenth amendment," said Mr. Dyer.

Bill Passes House

"My anti-lynching bill, intended for the enforcement of the fourteenth amendment, passed the house by a vote of two to one against it. It went to the Senate and had the support of a majority of the Senators, but the Southern Democratic Senators took advantage of the filibuster and prevented its coming to a vote in the Senate. Had the despotic rules of the Senate been changed, as Vice-President Dawes demanded, and worked for, giving the Senate fair and sane rules to work under, it would have been an easy matter to have had my anti-lynching bill become a law."

"The passage of this bill would have led to the enactment of a law for the enforcement of the fifteenth amendment also, and would have given the Negro his full rights as guaranteed by those Constitutional amendments.

Scraps Of Paper

"As it is now, these amendments amount to only the scraps of paper they are printed upon and they remain scraps of paper at the hands of the Southern Senators whose constituents yell the loudest about nullificationist at any one who dares question the wisdom of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act. I oppose the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, for I am opposed to prohibition, and would vote to repeal the eighteenth amendment.

"Until that is done, however, I am in favor of enforcing the prohibition amendment as best we can by providing funds and the necessary machinery to that end. I have so voted heretofore and will continue to do so while I am a member of Congress, as long as the eighteenth amendment stands. I could not do otherwise and be consistent in my contention and efforts to bring about similar machinery for the fourteenth and fifteenth amendment as that for the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment. Perhaps the world has never witnessed such inconsistency as that exhibited by the people of the Southern States in demanding and litigating about the nullification of the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments by their State Legislatures, and, at the same time demanding the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment. It is simply amazing. No amendment to the Constitution means anything unless there is an enforcement act and sufficient funds appropriated for enforcement.

Powerful And Influential

"There are powerful and influential people who are ready to demand of Congress at an early session laws with ample appropriations that will make these two amendments effective. Just as the people will through Congress replaced them into the Constitution, as they did the eighteenth amendment. My faith is such that I believe we will see the day, and that not very far off, when the Federal Government will, by virtue of congressional acts, place enforcement officers in the Southern States charged with enforcing these two amendments and give the Negroes their rights as citizens, as guaranteed by the Constitution. President Coolidge, in one of his messages recommended that the Federal Government take charge of elections in the States.

"It will be seen that my views on prohibition are not in accord with those of Herbert Hoover. But Mr. Hoover's stand on prohibition has captured the imaginations of the ardent Democratic drys of the South to such an extent that they have forgotten their democracy and have declared for Hoover and Curtis and they cannot be sidestepped. Hoover has their votes bagged. Who was it who mistakenly said that Herbert Hoover is not a good politician. "On November 6 that great engineer-politician, Hoover, with the votes of the prohibitionists and those swayed because of the religious question, in the South, will drive such a thick wedge through the heart of the solid South and their white supremacy slogan that it will blow up their whole unconstitutional program."

Finish Of Nullificationists

After the solid South has been blown to pieces by Engineer Hoover, our next President, tha: will be the finish of the nullificationists of the South, who have for sixty years violated and prevented the enforcement of the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments. Then Congress will enact enforcement laws that will give millions of Negroes their constitutional rights as citizens and place them on an equality with all other races," said Mr. Dyer, in conclusion.

Offer Dr. Pollard Bribe To Desert Democratic Party

Former Attorney-General Declines Offer to Head Fusion Movement — Would Run Him For Governor — Cannon Denies He Had Part in Scheme

Newport News, Va., Sept. 29.—Anti-Smith Democrats and active Republicans have asked John Garland Pollard, former attorney general of Virginia, and a prominent dry leader to stop supporting Alfred E. Smith for president, and to run for governor next year upon an independent "bone dry ticket," it was learned here today.

He was assured that if he would run there would be no Republican opposition to the State Democratic ticket, it was learned from an authentic source. Dr. Pollard declined the invitation and has made arrangements to stump the state for Governor Smith.

Asked today about reports in Richmond and Williamsburg linking his name with the proposed new political alignment, Dr. Pollard admitted that he had been approached by a number of people—members of the anti-Smith faction, active Republicans and personal friends interested in the practical politics of the situation—and had been asked if he would entertain such an idea.

"I declined," he said, I am a Democrat. It is necessary to think of the results of this presidential election upon Virginia as well as upon the nation.

"I shall do nothing to je .ardize Governor Byrd's progressive program. If Virginia should go Republican, this program would be in great danger. I base this conviction upon statements of leaders of the Republican party in Virginia."

Dr. Pollard insisted that while he is a prohibitionist he cannot view prohibition as a state or national issue.

He declined to disclose the identity of the persons who approached him, and would not advance any theory as to the possible source of the plans.

Dr. Pollard said that there was nothing official about the suggestion, but added that had there been he would have declined it.

"Governor Byrd has done a magnificent work for Virginia, and a Republican victory in Virginia would undo it," Dr. Pollard said in suggesting on the report of a movement for an Independent candidate.

Dr. Pollard is mayor of the city of Williamsburg and was at one time attorney general of Virginia. He also was a candidate for Democratic nomination as governor of Virginia a few years ago.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 29.—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., head of the anti-Smith movement in Virginia and the southern states, today denied that he has been connected with current talk to run Governor John Garland Pollard to run for governor next year on a "bone dry independent" ticket.

"Any implication that I am using the anti-Smith movement as a spring board to political power is belied by my record," Bishop Cannon said today.

"Except in opposing Governor Alfred E. Smith I am a Democrat and every speech in Virginia I am urging the election of the Democratic candidates for Congress."

He declared that he now is interested primarily in the presidential campaign and has given little thought to the gubernatorial campaign next year.

ONE HOUR

In the press of modern living and the hectic pursuit of success and happiness, we are all apt to overlook the magnitude and the essential quality of the public service rendered by the railroads of the country. And when figures, expressing the greatness of the service and the extent of the railway's contribution to the prosperity of the nation, state, community and individual ARE presented, they are too big to be grasped readily.

Consider for a moment then, what YOUR railway—the Norfolk and Western—accomplishes every hour of the year:

The hourly freight service of the railway is equivalent to moving 1,715,108 tons of freight one mile.

The hourly passenger service of the railway is equivalent to moving comfortably 23,67 persons a distance of one mile.

Every hour the Norfolk and Western trains travel 1,815 miles, moving freight and passengers—with safety. To furnish this service the railroad buys, and its locomotives use, 325 tons of coal and 1,500 quarts of oil an hour.

Approximately $10,000.00 is spent by the railway every hour of the day and night. This is money poured back into trade in the form of wages, taxes and purchases of materials and supplies.

The pay roll alone of Norfolk and Western employees totals $5,477.00 an hour; a very tangible contribution toward the development and prosperity of the communities in which these 30,000 employees live.

The hourly tax bill of the railway is $1,176.00, of which state, county and municipal governments get $634.00 and the federal government $542.00. And part of this money goes toward the maintenance of highways used by the railway's greatest competitors—the motor bus and truck.

For every hour of the year the railway invests $2,34.00 in additions and improvements to its property, another form of contribution toward the prosperity of business.

Yet, the Norfolk and Western Railway is but one of many carriers serving the nation. As proven and essential factors in our economic life, the railroads HOURLY EARN your good-will and cooperation.

The figures in this advertisement are based on reports of the Norfolk and Western Railway to the Interstate Commerce Com. for the year 1927; these yearly figures being divided by 8,760, the number of hours in the year.

Harry St. George Tucker Ably Discusses the Campaign Issues

Senator Ferguson called the meeting to order and introduced Col. Flood who introduced Congressman Tucker to a large crowd.

Mr. Tucker in a speech of nearly two hours arraigned the Republican party for its betrayal of the trust confided to it by the people for the last eight years by exposing the corruption and perfidy indulged in by its cabinet members.

Mr. Tucker said:

This is not primarily, a fight between republicans and democrats, in this campaign a corner-stone of our civilization is at stake. Way out yonder, beyond all above questions of politics is a great issue before the people today—freedom of religion. And in an hour of excitement, may by down this principle of religious freedom which your forefathers raised and sustained, as grandchildren will reap the bitter result."

He stressed the question of religious tolerance saying that provision of the constitution providing that there shall be no religious test for any office must be maintained at any cost. He spoke also of Alfred E. Smith's Romanism affiliation, defending both the nominee and the organization with which he is allied.

Just before the meeting W. P. Orr, a republican, sought to induce Mr. Tucker to enter a joint debate with Rev. Thomas Calvin Jones, Methodist Protestant clergyman from Maryland, who is stumping in Virginia and the southern states, today denied that he has been connected with current talk to run for governor next year on a "bone dry independent" ticket.

"Any implication that I am using the anti-Smith movement as a spring board to political power is belied by my record," Bishop Cannon said today.

"Except in opposing Governor Alfred E. Smith I am a Democrat and every speech in Virginia I am urging the election of the Democratic candidates for Congress."

He declared that he now is interested primarily in the presidential campaign and has given little thought to the gubernatorial campaign next year.

FOR PRESIDENT!

Gov. Alfred E. Smith

METHODIST DEAN, A DRY REPUBLICAN, FOR SMITH

WASHINGTON. — Dr. Edward T. Devine, Dean of the American University Graduate School, a prominent Methodist institution, has announced that he will support Gov. Smith. Dr. Devine is a Republican and a Dry.

DANIELS REBUKES STRATON

RALEIGH, N. C.—Rebuking Dr. John Roach Straton for expressing the belief that "my old friend" Josephus Daniels, would bolt the Democratic party, the former Secretary of the Navy has again emphatically declared, in a letter to the New York pastor, that he will support Governor Smith. Mr. Daniels wrote:

"I believe I can serve the cause of prohibition and temperance better by remaining in my party than by supporting Mr. Hoover, who sat in the Cabinet with Harding with all the corruption and who Coolidge with all the favoritism—the two administrations, which, by flagrant failure to enforce the law or to give it legal and moral support, have done more to harm prohibition than its open foes."

W. C. T. U. WORKER FOR SMITH

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—Mrs. Lucy Reed, member of the W. C. T. U. for thirty years and an active prohibition worker, is an ardent supporter of Governor Smith. As a genuine Dry she dislikes the illegal "wetness" of the Republican party, she says; and she adds that Governor Smith "is honest and will enforce the laws."

seven and a half years that it would not enforce them.

"The argument against Smith is very simple. It goes like this: Tammany is corrupt—He said Smith is a member of Tammany. Therefore, Smith is corrupt.'

"Now, when Bishop Cannon and others urge this argument and tell us we cannot conscientiously vote for Smith because he is corrupt, what remedy do they suggest? Hoover! And where does Hoover come from?

"Hoover comes from a cabinet three members of which have been thrown out of office for corruption. He comes from a nest of rotten eggs!

"You housekeepers know about this better than I do. Suppose you start in on Saturday night to make a pudding for your family to eat on Sunday. Here you have a dozen eggs, from a doubtful source. You crack the first egg — the Fall egg — phew! Rotten! Then you open the next egg—the Daugherty egg—rotten again! And then you open the Denby egg, and you throw that aside.

"Now, in addition to these three members of the cabinet there were Forbes, head of the veterans' bureau, which is considered almost as a department headed by a cabinet officer, and Miller, the alien property custodian. Counting these you have an even dozen eggs and five of them have been shown to be rotten.

"I ask you ladies now, would you take a chance on making a pudding out of the seven remaining eggs? And, mind you, we haven't opened up the Mellon egg yet!

"And yet Bishop Cannon tells you that Tammany is corrupt. Therefore, Smith is corrupt. Then, he tells you to vote for Hoover — one of a nest of twelve eggs five of which already have been proven to be rotten!

"Wherever church and state have been united there has been corruption. It is not the fault of the church but of that unholy alliance."

The growth of religious freedom in Virginia was reviewed, mention being made of persecution of non-conformist preachers under direction of the established church in Colonial days and of the ending of this policy when Thomas Jefferson framed his statute for religious freedom.

"The serpent of intolerance raised its vicious head again in 1856," the speaker continued, recalling the campaign in which the Know Nothing party figured and which was defeated by Henry A. Wise, "and now, the serpent is raising its head for the third time. But, thank God, I believe the people of Virginia, and of this nation are going to stamp it under their feet this time so that it never can rise again!"

It was a great day for the Democrats and Mr. Tucker who did not refer to his own canvass may be sure that the County will give the whole ticket a handsome majority at the polls in November.

Must Be A Bitter Pill

Almost everybody in North Carolina, and quite a few throughout the south, remember W. J. Persons, a negro politician of that state who served in the general Assembly in the early 90's during the republican populist fusion. He ran for congress but didn't make the grade. He was given appointment in Washington, and is serving the Coolidge administration in some capacity.

The Asheville Citizen publishes the following letter from Persons:

"I welcome the accession of Senator Simmons to our ranks. Conversion is better late than never. Long ago, we were antagonists but we never struck below the belt. Today I welcome him with open arms to the Grand Old Party of God and morality. After all of these years of defeat and disaster for the black man's party in the south I can see us again coming into our own. Not a great many of us remain alive who can recall the days when black men sat in the chairs of state in the southern capitol. Those days have long been gone, but, bless God, I can see them returning. It is said that a house divided against itself cannot stand, and now I see the white people of the south dividing.

"I wish to use the newspapers of North Carolina to urge my people to get behind Senator Simmons and support him. What is true in North Carolina may be true in other southern states. Just let us get control of the state machinery this time and Mr. Hoover in the white house will give us such help as will wipe out all the laws in the south which keep the black man from moving on the same plane as the white man."

What a bitter pill this must be to the venerable old democratic leader who was the "general" of the campaign that ousted Persons and his bloc of negro politicians from the state capitol of the Old North State! But what else could be expected? It is a light in the sky, however, when Senator Simmons, antagonist of Smith frankly admits he cannot stomach Hoover.

It is not difficult to see the mental attitude of this old negro politician who is now praying for "Hoover in the white house."

Attention Farmers

State of New York
Executive Chamber
Albany
September 28, 1928

My dear Governor:

I am very grateful to you for calling my attention to the critical situation existing with respect to the tobacco growers of your State and other tobacco-producing States. It confirms my opinion as to the serious condition of agriculture in general, which includes this plight of the tobacco farmer.

You may be sure that if I am elected there will be a thorough investigation of this tobacco situation with a view to immediate remedial legislation that will logically and soundly rehabilitate the tobacco farming industry.

Yours faithfully,
ALFRED E. SMITH.

Independent Republican Leader

Senator George W. Norris, bold leader of the Republican insurgent bloc in the National Senate, took one more step toward possible indorsement of Governor Alfred E. Smith for President.

The veteran insurgent leader, for years the ablest unit in the late Senator Robert M. La Follette's independent organization, read Smith's St. Paul speech on farm relief from the first to the last paragraph and pronounced it "bully".

Norris said he agreed fully with Smith that the principle of the twice vetoed McNary-Haugen bill was designed to take the exportable surplus of the farm crop out of competition with the domestic prices, with the cost of so doing to be assessed on the particular crop benefited.

With reference to Smith's pledge to find the "mechanics" for assessing that cost, Norris said:

"If he thinks he can improve the machinery, I say:

"God bless him; go ahead and do it."

"But if he does not find a better method than the equalization fee contained in the McNary-Haugen bill I am satisfied that he would defeat that."

Norris thus for the third time since Smith went into the West made complimentary statements seemingly calculated to keep the Democratic nominee Smith's Omaha speech on farm relief and his Denver attack on the water power trust, which blocked both Muscle Shoals and Boulder Dam legislation, were the subjects of his earlier favorable comments. — NEW YORK AMERICAN.

Just Another One

A fool may be born every minute, but the statistician who took time to find out is also one.—Atchison Globe.

Too Expensive

Failure of the Dark Tobacco Growers co-Operative Association was due to the expenses incurred in its operations and the salaries paid employees, in the opinion of Joseph S. Laurent, special master, who, in a report made today to Federal Judge Charles I. Dawson, recommended that the case involving the association be kept on the court docket until the organization is finally liquidated.

Mr. Laurent, whose report was submitted in the case of Charles Brann and other members of the association, mostly from Tennessee, said it is impossible to have a final settlement of accounts at this time, because of the fact that there are several million pounds of tobacco yet to be disposed of by the association and additional expenses necessarily will be incurred in the organization's operation until all property on hand can be sold.

Mr. Laurent gave as his opinion that the plantiffs cannot recover judgment against the association as it is a non-profit organization and is owned entirely by its members, who are, in legal effect, its stockholders.

First National Bank Of Durham, Trustee

10-4-4t Durham, N. C.

September 15, 1928.

To The Voters of the Tenth Congressional District of Virginia:

On July 7th, 1928, at Lexington, Virginia, I was nominated by the Tenth Congressional District Republican Convention as that party's choice for election to membership in the House of Representatives, to represent the good people of this district at the seat of Government at Washington.

Being unknown to many citizens of the District, I wish to say that I was born in Bath County, have lived in Virginia all of my life, and am a resident of Clifton Forge, where for sixteen years I have been a practicing attorney and of which city it is my honor to be the Attorney for the Commonwealth.

As a candidate for this great office, I stand unqualifiedly behind the candidacy of those two great Americans, Hoover and Curtis, and upon the same platform upon which they stand, the platform of principles adopted by the Republican party at Kansas City. If I am chosen by you to represent you at Washington, I shall do so to the very best of my ability, having an eye single to the moral, social and economic welfare of the people. I believe the clear thinking people of our land have definitely decided to place the welfare of this nation for the next four years in the hands of Herbert Hoover, and under his administration, the good people of the Tenth Congressional District of Virginia, should be represented at Washington by a man who is FOR HOOVER, and who will work with the President and not against his policies. In this election I am that man.

In conclusion I shall single out just one issue, rather one great moral, social and economic problem upon which I feel the people desire a definite statement from a candidate for Congress, namely, prohibition and its enforcement. It is Congress, my friends, that either makes or mars the legal machinery for true prohibition. I was in favor of making prohibition a part of the organic law. I am in favor of keeping prohibition in the Constitution of the United States, and I favor the present Volstead Act, and if elected, I pledge you my vote in Congress will consistently uphold this stand.

Yours very truly,
M. J. PUTNAM.
